To Whom It May Concern: -

I would like to advise that I personally have been associated with Nicholas Copeland for many years now working together on many projects. These projects involved myself and the companies I have worked for (G James and now Bradnams) supply all glazing requirements, and have ranged from small to large domestic renovations, new home builds through to residential (unit complexes), commercial and industrial projects.

I have a strong relationship with Nick and have found him to be reliable and honest. His ability and history to pay his accounts on time are also testament to the way he runs his business and the trust he has in people.
